MY SWEETHEART.

I, too, have a sweetheart-pray cease your deriding:
You were singing last night: "Love can never grow oid."
Do you think just because my old poll is so My pulses are sluggish, my heart has grown

Well, well, laugh away, I care not for your Jeering-I have my own sweetheart, my daintiest dear;
When she comes through the meadow grass, singing so gayly,
The birds cease their carolings only to hear.

On the whole the damage was less than many had feared, and with the expectation of preventing any further in-jury by the erection of the dam, hope revived in the breasts of all, and they began repairing as fast as possible the injury already done, and the cultiva-tion of their vineyards and fields for the coming crop.

The Parsons ranch had suffered with the rest, but not more than many others. A hundred grape vines stand-ing upon ground near the creek were killed or badly injured. Several banks of gravel, mingled with larger stones, extended across some of the most fer-tile fields, the total injury amounting to a thousand dollars or more, in pros-pective, but not seriously affecting the mmediate income of the family occupying the white cottage under the bluff, around whose open porch still clam-bered rose bushes heavy with their weight of yellow, and red, and crimson

As soon as possible after Johnny had been brought home from the shanty in the hills where he lay so many weeks, Jennie and Lucy had returned to school in San Francisco, Mrs. Parsons being now more than ever determined that they should not fail to obtain an education "If we leave them nothing else, John, let us at least give them an edu-cation," she had said to her husband, and he had made no objections, though the house seemed doubly lonely with-

To help Mrs. Parsons with the lighter work they secured the assistance of a young girl whose parents had moved into the neighborhood but the year before, and who, having but little to begin on, were not unwilling that their daugh-ter should find a home where she would be kindly treated and paid for washing the dishes and such other chores as her age and experience fitted her for.

As they had missed a portion of one form the girls did not go home for the short spring vacation, but remained in the city and studied, in order to keep up with their classes; and when they did return in midsummer Lucy was en-gaged to be married to James Annel-

"The wedding was not to take acc ahead and did not speak for so for at least a year yet," she tolk her onds, and then said, in a voic mether in announcing the engagement sounded hourse and unnatural:

Mr. Annelsey had desired an immediate union, but to this she had interposed a decided negative, and he had at last consented that she should remain at school a year longer, when they were to be married and he would take her to

New York to reside.

This was not wholly unexpected by the family. They knew that Mr. Annelsey had followed the young ladies to San Francisco, and that he had been a frequent caller upon them while there. Jennie had even intimated in one of her letters to her mother that she thought Lucy and he would be married some

She said less of Ensign, who was almost as frequent a visitor as Annel-

In fact the two young men had made up their slight differences and frequent-ly called upon the girls in company, or together arranged with them for attend-

And so it had been agreed between them that Annelsey should go at once to New York, where his presence was desired by his parents, and that Lacy should remain in school another year, when he was to return, and their marriage be consummated.

THE DISAPPOINTED LOVER

Of course, Erastus was told of Lucy's engagement to Mr. Annelsey. In fact, he learned it from Jennie in advance of any other member of the family. As they were driving home from the landing on their return from San Francisco and chatting of those things which are of more interest to young people, namely, other young people, Jenuie suddenly broke out with:

"Say, Luce, I'm going to tell Ras," and without waiting for a reply or giving any heed to the blushes which flooded her sister's face and neck, she rattled on with all the speed which her tongue could command: "How'd you like t' have Mr. Annelsey for a brother-in-law, Ras? I know you didn't used in-law, Ras? I know you didn't used to like him very well, but you'll have to now, for Lucy and he are engaged, and are going to be married when he comes back from New York in about a year. There now, Luce, it's out, and you won't have to be carrying the awful load of having to tell it any longer." "I think you are just as mean as you can be," retorted Lucy, half angry and uncertain whether to laugh or cry. "I hadn't said a word about Mr. Ensign, who has been almost as constant as who has been almost as constant as your shadow ever since we met him on the boat. You would be engaged to him, too—you know you would—if it wasn't that he has got nothing to go to housekeeping with. So, there now, Ras, you know all about us girls, and can confess that you are going to marry Julia Ennis if you want to without blushing." But Erastus made no such confession. and instead of blushing, his face became very white, and he looked straight ahead and did not speak for some sec-onds, and then said, in a voice which some time.

Once or twice Jennie, who felt that she was the innocent cause of the sudden silence which had fallen upon them, attempted to start the conversation again by asking questions about neighbors or affairs on the ranch, but Erastus only replied in the fewest words possible, and still looked straight in front of him.

Jennie was half inclined to be offended at this. She thought him angry be-cause Lucy had engaged herself to a man whom he did not like. Could she have seen his face she would have known that some feeling deeper than mere dislike for Annelsey was at work within his breast.

As for Lucy, the assertion of Erastus, erately chosen to desert them in the hour of their greatest loss, and had gone over to their enemies in order to so much to aid in accumulating what save berself from sharing in the hard-they possessed, to leave without any ships which might be coming upon

All this passed through her mind in an instant, and she sank down in her seat with a feeling of shame, and a hatred of herself which made it impossible to say a word more. "No wonder Erastus' is silent," she thought. "He can not bear even to speak to one who seems so utterly selfish. Oh! why did I never think of it h that light before? It is that which has made him so cold to me ever since Mr. Annelsey first came. He has thought all the time that I was trying to save myself from any suffering that may come upon the rest of them. Oh, if I could only die!"

By this time, however, Erastus had partially recovered from the blow which had fallen so suddenly, if not unexpectedly, and was able to take up the thread of the conversation where Lucy had dropped it; and Jennie, anxious not to reach home in such a frozen silence as to attract the notice of their mother, also chimed in, thus giving her sister time to rally again; and when they stopped in front of the cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, the former carrying Johnny in his arms, came out to welcome them, thought they had never seen daughters in a gayer mood, and attrib-uted it to joy at being home again after

When Mrs. Parsons told her husband of Lucy's engagement he semained silent for a time and then said:

"I s'pose it's natural, Marty, an' what's natural is ginerally right, but someway I'm afeard Lucy will be sorry fer it some day.

"I ain't got nothin' in particular agin the young man, but I'd a heap ruther she'd a married Rastus, an' I feel certain he'd a asked her ef Mr. Annelsey hadn't got in his way and he seen that Lucy kind o' took to him; though I never could make out that she loved him so very much while he was a

"I used ter think," he went on, "that nobody couldn't go to Heaven that took what they hadn't earned, but I d'know. May be there ain't no Heaven 'er no Hell; an' no right and no wrong—that we're just put here like the wild beasts we're just put here like the wild beasts to fight fer what we git, and that them that can git the most is the best fellers.

"If a man or a child is hungry and takes a loaf of bread, they send him to jail, because that's a vi'lation of the law; but ef he has money to start on an' bribes Congris to pass a law so he kin rob a lot of poor folks of everything they have, as fast as they can get any-thing together, why, they're makin' money because they've got more talents than other fellers have; and everybody is entitled to all they can make in this

Finally it was agreed that he should take a pair of three-year-old colts and one of the wagons, together with pro-visions and money sufficient to last him until he could reach his destination, look about him a little and decide just what he would do. During the time intervening before the day set for his departure he worked even harder than usual, that he might leave the fall work in good shape and so relieve Mr. Parsons as much as possible. The colts, too, were harnessed every day and made to do some light work that they might be hardened a little before starting upon the journey, which, although not such a very long one, would yet be a hard one on animals of their age.

It was a very sad household, that of John and Martha Parsons, during these few weeks of work and preparation; perhaps the saddest that had ever gathered about their board.

When Johnny was brought home crippled for life, and when it was thought that their home was to be destroyed by the overflow, very dark indeed had seemed the days, especially to the parents; but always a hope that the home might be saved, and the thought that even if worst came to worst the family could be kept together, had enabled the mother to keep up a cheerful appearance. And young hearts are appearance. And young hearts are ever buoyant; so long as they have no very grave sorrows of their own, the sorrows of others, even those they love best, can not prevent the occasional overflow of youthful spirits in merry laughter, and the young folks of the Parsons household had always expected that in some way the clouds that over-shadowed them for a time would be lifted, and that the warm sun of love and prosperity would be found to have a permanent abiding place in their firm-

Excitement in England Over the Speech of Mr. Parnell.

London, August 29.—Mr. Parnell's speeches have come at just the right moment to concentrate popular attention in England. The English politicians are still buried in contemplation of the great problem of how the cat will jump, and they maintain an unbroken silence. Into this void the clear notes of the Irish leader pen etrated with exulting tone. His throwing overboard of all subsidiary questions, and making an immediate call for legislative

Public opinion was crystalizing fast in favor of Irish home rule, but it was long ago decided that separation means bloodshed. It is an enemy on the threshold and inside the gates. Public opinion inexorably decrees the maintenance of the union, and this will be an effective campaign cry of the Liberal party.

Riotous Bank Depositors.

ERIE, PENN, August 29.—Great excite-ment prevailed here this afternoon in connection with a meeting of the stockholders of the suspended German Savings Bank The meeting was called to see whether the stockholders would or not meet the liabilities. A dense crowd of excited depositors gathered around the bank, and their attigathered around the bank, and their attitude became so threatening thata force of police was detailed to keep the peace. The mob closed around every door of the bank, while the stockholders had their secret meeting within. At last

Death from a Rattlesnake Bite.

Wheeling, W. Va., August 30 .- George Blackburn, of Elk Garden, a boy about fifteen years of age, was bitten last Friday by a rattlesnake, and died before he could reach home. He was engaged in binding oats for a neighbor, about three miles from his home, and while tying a sheaf was bit-ten on the nose.

The offerings of dark tobaccos have been light, not exceeding 15 to 20 per cent. of the daily offerings. There have been re-sales here recently of Western Kentucky tobaccos at considerable profit. Drouth complaints have been much more serious, especially in the Green River and Southern districts. In Daviess, Breckand Southere districts. In Daviess, Breck-inridge, McLean and that section gener-ally serious injuries are reported, as also in portions of the Upper Green River, Clarksville and Burley districts. Hampton, it resulted seriously, if not fatally, for the latter. A large, very heavy sawlog was selected as the object to be raised. Under one end of this a good-sized handspike five feet in length was placed, with a contestant at each end. When the signal "to lift" was given both men exerted themselves, and the log was raised about eighteen inches. Burdine's side, on account of his being the taller, was about two inches higher, which caused the log to roll toward Hampton, and before he could think the spike was wrenched from his grasp, the log in its descent catching his right leg in such a manner as to disjoint that member at the knee. At last accounts Hampton seemed suffering such intense agony that it is thought he will die.

Ca tilian Blood Fired Over the Caroline Islands Encroachment.

PARIS, August 28 .- La France states that all Spanish officers now on furlough have been ordered to rejoin their regiments. The same paper is authority for the state ment that several large Spanish mercantile houses have canceled all their outstanding orders for German goods.

PARIS, August 28.—It is stated that Emperor William, of Germany, through a feeling of sympathy with King Alfonso, has made a personal interference in order to obtain a prompt settlement of the Carolines affair favorable to Spain. Spanish merchants and other consumers of German products threaten to boycott all German goods. Firms in Wurzburg and Etherteld goods. Firms in Wurzburg and Elberfeld have received notices from commercial houses in Spain severing business connec-tions with them.

Two Officers Murdered by Burglars.

CHICAGO, August 28. - A mysterious double murder was committed about 12 o'clock last night at Geneva. Kane County, Ills., the victims being two of the three officers who constitute the police force of the town. The deed was committed right in the center of that quiet place, near the Court-house, and some dozen shots were Court-house, and some dozen shots were heard by the residents in the neighborhood, given in quick succession, at about midnight, but no one left bed to find out the cause of the turmoil, and it was reserved for a party of merry-makers returning from a picnic, at about 1 o'clock, to find the bodies of the murdered men and raise the alarm. Officer McNatt was found dead with a bullet hole in the region of the heart, his revolver, with five of its chambers emptied, lying near him. McNatt lay at the southwest corner of the Court-house, and several rods away, on the sidewalk, bers emptied, lying near him. McNatt lay at the southwest corner of the Court-house, and several rods away, on the sidewalk, was found Officer Grant, also, with a bullet hole in the breast, but on the right side, still breathing slightly, but unconscious, and the last life sparks fast dying out. He was taken home, a few blocks distant, and died on the way. There is as yet no clew to the perpetrators of the rime, but it is surmised that both officers died in the discharge of their duty. There have been several attempted burglaries in the town of late, the last one occurring but a night or two before. It is supposed that last night the officers discovered the burglars either at work or leaving the scene of their unlawful activity, and that in the attempt to arrest them, the officers being separated, the fatal shots were fired by the thieves. Grant's pixel was found near his side, four chambers being empty. Both murdered officers have excellent reputations. Both the deceased leave large families. The possibility that their death was due to a quarrel between themselves is precluded by the fact that they were good friends; that they were seen late in the evening in amicable intercourse, and that their bodies were found cuite a distance apart from each other.

A Smart Washing Machine Agent.

DINEY. ILL. August 28. - About two weeks ago a man came to Olney, giving his name as J. M. Meyer, claiming to be a washing machine agent. Last Monday he hired a horse and buggy, taking the machine with him fourteen miles to the north-west of here. He sold the machine on trial to O. W. Gray for three dollars, taking his note for the same. The note was afterwards changed so as to read $300, and was offered by Meyer to A. Morris for a road scraper, he, Morris, to pay him a cash difference. On inquiry Morris ascertained that Gray was considered perfectly good, and made the trade. He then effected a trade with F. Laudenberger, a prominent groceryman, for a span of fine horses, giving him the note for the horses. Mr. tray made his appearance in town today, and in answer to an inqueysaid he had given his note for only three dollars. Hustling is a faint description of Laudenberger's movements for a short time. He is making-every effort chine with him fourteen miles to the north description of Laudenberger's movements for a short time. He is making every effort to recover his team, which is in Lincoln, III., at present. Sheriff Spring offers a reward of $25 for Meyer's arrest. He is about thirty-two years of age, black mustache and hair, the latter considerably sprinkled with gray; five feet seven inches high, neatly attired, and claimed Terre Haute as he bower.

Suffering at Sea.

Nova Scotian, w from Liverpool, brought from St. Johns, N. F., Captain Seablossom and twenty-one of the crew of the American whaling brig Isabella, which was lost in the ice in Hudson's Straits. The Isabella sailed from New Bedford on May 27, 1884, and entered the ice pack on July 11. She was crushed in the ice on the 20th of the same month, twenty miles north of North Bluff. All of the crew, twenty-three in number, and a stowaway, were saved. They wandered about on the ice for four days, suffering intensely from the cold. They finally reached a settlement called Acalier, and remained there until September 9, when the whaler Eira arrived off the place, and they were all taken on board and kindly cared for, but owing to the scarcity of food on the Eira both crews had to be put on short allowance. While on board the Eira one of the Isabella's crew, a Swede named Francis Pemro, died of scurvy. The rest of the men are all in good health. son's Straits. The Isabella sailed from New

The Postal Card Trouble.

WASHINGTON, August 28 .- Third Assistant Postmaster General Hazen to-day re-ceived a telegram from Castleton, N. Y., stating that the postal card contractor there was now turning out about eight hundred thousand postal cards per day. All of them, however, were not available for use, as some difficulty was experienced in drying them. The printing and quality of the cards, while showing a slight improvement, is not as yet satisfactory to the department.

STILL LIVING.

The Most Remarkable Recovery on Record -- What Tobacco Will Do.

OIL CITY, PA., August 27.-Henry Sutton is seemingly about to make one of the most remarkable recoveries on record. A little more than two weeks ago, while engaged n agitating an oil-well owned by Collins & Thompson, at Stone Hill, near Warren, he attached an iron rod, known as the polishrod, to the sand-pump line, and lowered it to the bottom of the well. A sudden rush to the bottom of the well. A sudden rush of gas threw the rod from the well and about thirty feet into the air, and in falling it struck Sutton on the right side of the neck, came out on the side below the breast-bone, entered again at the hip and emerged from the flesh below the knee. The vital organs were not penetrated, but it was thought there was very little hope of his recovery. In spite of this Sutton has continued to improve, notwithstanding the fact that his physicians say that 900 out of every improve, notwithstanding the fact that his physicians say that 995 out of every 1,000,000 such gases would die in less than a minute after the accident, and that it would be almost impossible for even a knitting-needle to follow the course through a man's body which this iron rod did without entering a number of large arteries, whereas the rod which passed through Sutton was three-quarters of an inch in diameter. A dispatch from Warren to-day says: "Sutton is getting along nicely and gives every indication of a rapid recovery. He sits up in bed and smokes, a habit which has a very strong hold on him, but it has been a source of strength rather than anything else."

A Too Realistic Sham Battle. LA SALLE, ILL., August 27 .- Private R. A. Purdie, of the Fourth Regiment Illinois National Guard, wounded during a sham battle at the State encampment, near Ottawa, two weeks ago, died here to-day from lockjaw induced by his injuries. Great indignation prevails against the Great indignation prevails against the First Illinois Cavalry Regiment, which is held responsible for the death. Statements were publicly made after the battle that the cavalry had a grudge against certain other regiments, and had gone into the fight with the preconcerted design of maiming as many of its opponents as possible. The vicious fighting and number of casualties that characterized the battle excited much comment at terized the battle excited much comment at the time. Private Furdie leaves a wife and four children in indigent circum-stances. The coroner will hold an inquest to-morrow, and if the guilty persons can be determined their arrest will be made forthwith.

Through a Bridge.

NATCHEZ, MISS., August 27 .- A portion of to-day's incoming passenger train on the Natchez, Jackson & Columbus Railroad went through Big Bayou Pierre Bridge this morning. The train ran off the track at the east end of the bridge, and after bumping over the cross-ties, went into the bayou near the west end of the structure, th near the west end of the structure, the locomotive, tender, baggage and mail car and smoking car all going down. The first-class coach remained on the track. The following is a list of the casualties: Killed instantly—Engineer Powell, Fireman John McClutchy and Brakeman Robert Perry. Campbell, of Fayette; James Ming, newsboy, of Vidalfa; Henry Rücker, of Cincinnati, and J. B. Zeigel.

Texas Cattle Fever in Pennsylvania.

ERIE, PENN., August 27 .- A furore has broken out among the farmers of Erie County, owing to the appearance and rapid spread of Texas fever among the cattle To-day the Mayor and Sanitary Board visited the worst infected district, a few miles south of the city, with a view to ascertaining the true name of the scourge, and for adopting measures to prevent further contagion. Autopsies were held on many dead cattle, and all were found to have died from Texas fever, having come in contact with Texas cattle in transit from the West Tooday six cattle in the city. the West. To-day six cattle in the city died of the disease. The mortality in the outlying districts is great. To-night the Mayor issued a caution for all owners of cattle to keep them from running at large.

A Father's Terrible Mistake.

PORTLAND, ORE., August 27 .- The Ore gonian's special says: Three children were poisoned to death at Fossil, Gillam Halifax, N. S., August 28.—The steamer Nova Scotian, which arrived here to-day hold of a can of concentrated lye and hold of a can of concentrated lye and drank some of the contents, dying before medical assistance could be secured. Within half an hour of this accident the Rev. James Young, who lives across the street from the Whites, gave two of his children an overdose of medicine containing laudanum, and both died in less than an hour. All three children were buried at the same time to-day.

The Special Delivery Stamp.

Across the top of the tablet is, the legend, "Special Postal Delivery," and at the bottom the words, "Ten Cents," separated by a small shield bearing the numeral "10."

Exploding Glycerine.

BRADFORD, PA., August 27 .- At 9 o'clock this morning Roberts' glycerine factory, two miles from town, caught fire. Superintendent Lewis, the only person around at the time, saw that he could do nothing, and the time, saw that he could do nothing, and ran for his life. A terrible explosion followed, which shook Bradford to its center. Emery's large brick building shook like a leaf. The explosion was the greatest ever heard here. There was but one run in the factory at the time. The building was completely wrecked. The loss is not vet ascertained.

No Dynamite in It.

NEW YORK, August 28.—Fire from the eigar O'Donovan Rossa was smoking, in his Chambers street office, this morning, dropped on a stack of inflammatory antidropped on a stack of innaminatory anti-English literature, and a lively burst of flames followed. People on the street, when they saw the smoke, rushed away a short distance and waited expectantly for dynamite explosions, but none came. The fire was soon extinguished. Rossa suffers a loss of $250. He was not insured.

MORMONS MOBBED.

Proselyters Beaten and Left Naked and Bleeding in London Streets.

LONDON, August 26 .- For some time past several Mormon missionaries have been laboring with great energy in the east of London and have succeeded in making many converts and proselytes in spite of persistent and brutal opposition. Recently there have been reports that these missionaries had been systematically kidnaping handsome young women and shipping ing handsome young women and shipping them to Utah to be "sealed" to rich and lecherous Mormons. All sorts of stories have been told about harems kept by rich Mormons and the indignities inflicted upon the girls who were entrapped into becoming their wives or concubines. These reports have greatly exasperated the East Enders, and last night an infuriated mob fivaled and took possession of the hall in which the missionaries were speaking. The invaders stormed the platform, smashed most of the furniture in the hall, and made a total wreck of everything on the platform. Several of the elders who had been conducting the services fled for their lives. The rioters chased them through the streets, pelting them with filth and every sort of missile that could be picked up. Several of the elders were captured and were terribly abused by the mob. Their clothing was torn to shreds, and they were beaten until they were unconscious and almost lifeless. The rioters evidently believing them dead fled and left the Mormons lying naked and bleeding or the payement, where they were afterwar found by the police. them to Utah to be "sealed" to rich and

A Sad Affair.

READING, Pa., August 26 .- A special from Perkiomen Junction gives particulars of a horrible burning affair at Perkiomen Junction, Montgomery County, of a lovely young lady named Jennie Kulp, of Greet Lane, where she was staying at Herring's Hotel. She was engaged in writing a letter to a gentleman friend, in her bedroom. when she fell asleep. She probably moved her arms while asleep, for the coal-oil her arms while asleep, for the coal-oil lamp was upset, saturating he clothing and setting it on fire. The room showed that the poor girl must have had a terrible struggle. The door was locked and she screamed and beat her body against it. The plastering was torn from the wall with her fingers in her agony. When finally the proprietor, Mr. Herring, heard her screams and opened the door of her room, she dashed out and through the house and up and down the stairs until shefell down in a swoon, her clothing all burned off her body, and her face and head literally roasted to the bone. She died this morning. Mr. Herring in his efforts to catch her was severely burned, the girl in her agony throwing her arms about him and burning his factories and hands. A child with her in the room was also burned. What makes the affair all the mere sad is the fact that Miss neck and hands. A child with her in the room was also burned. What makes the affair all the mere sad is the fact that Miss Kulp was engaged to be married, and the letter she was writing was in reference to some arrangements for their coming wed-ding. She was unusually beautiful.

Caught in His Own Tran.

GRANVILLE, VT., August 26 .- Ira Linnell, with several other young men, has been spending the past week in the woods trapping bears. On Sunday morning he went to visit a distant bear trap to which only weekly visits were paid, and, although he did not return when expected, no anxiety was felt by his friends. Late Monday afternoon a farmer happened to pass near the trap in question and thought to examine it. Listening in vain for any indication of the presence of a bear, he opened the trap, and there, in a fainting condition, he found young Linnell. It appears that he had gone inside of the trap, a big box-lid affair for catching animals alive, and while arranging the bait, accidentally touched the spring that closed the door. he did not return when expected, no anxand while arranging the balt, accidentally touched the spring that closed the door, and he found himself imprisoned. For thirty-six hours he remained in his prison with no water and but little air, and his only food was the raw meat with which the trap was baited, and which hunger finally compelled him to eat.

Ice in Minnesota.

NEW YORK, August 26 .- The Sun's Moorehead, Minn., dispatch says: "Ice formed an eighth of an inch Monday night. The frost killed plants and injured late wheat. There was a severe frost in Minnesota, but though the bulk of the wheat is still uncut, it was not damaged." The Herald's Winnipeg dispatch says that reports from fifty points in the province and Territories show some local damages done by the frost, but by no means extensive or general. Harvesting is in full progress. The weather continues cold. The frost killed plants and injured late Dakota's Population.

CHICAGO, August 26.—Governor Pierce, of Dakota, arrived here yesterday on his way to Washington. His tour is made for the purpose of filing the census recently the purpose of filing the census recently taken of the Territory. It is a very complete and voluminous piece of work. The population in round numbers is 415,000, of which South Dakota claims 263,000. The total number of farms in the Territory is 80,000, varying in area from 6,000 acres down. The chief object of the census is to strengthen the Territory's claim to admission as a State.

Riel Fund Growing.

MONTREAL, August 26 .- It is stated that Fitzpatrick, counsel for Riel, has received an order to take his case before the Manian order to take his case before the Manitoba Court of Appeals at the next term. The Riel fund is reported to be daily increasing. At a special meeting of the County of Terebonne Council $200 was voted in aid of the rebel chief. Concerts and other entertainments are being held in various parts of the country in aid of the Riel fund.

Bloody Riot.

DUBLIN, August 27 .- Magistrate Bodkin and a hundred police went to Bally Farrisey, County Killarney, to-day, to evict some tenants. When they arrived the chapel bell was tolled, and two thousand persons assembled and attacked the officers, preventing them from accomplishing the evictions. The police were compelled to charge the mob with bayonets, and fierce encounters ensued, many on both sides being stoned and stabbed.

HOW TO GET TRADE IN SUMMER.

A Lesson That Cost an Albany Merchant 86,000 Before He Learned It.

Entering the store of a prosperous city merchant yesterday, a gentleman, a stranger in town, expressed surprise at the busy scene that greeted him: inquired of the proprietor how it was that he was getting more than his share of business in these dull, midsummer days. The merchant replied: "I attribute the excellent business I do every summer to just two things: First, I advertise bargains, and keep my store before the public; second, when the public calls satisfy it by keeping my advertised promises. It cost me $6,000 fo learn this lesson, and it has paid me at least $25,000. During three successive summers during the hard years that followed 1873. I ran behind in this store on an average $2,000 every year. I made up my mind that there was business to do and that I would do it. In the middle of the worst and dullest year that we had, when clerks were absent on their vacations and half of the force in the store was idle. I started in and spent $1,200 in advertising midsummer bargains, remnants, old stock, and se Within a week my store was s full of business that I had to send for every clerk who was away and added two extra clerks. That year, instead of a loss of $2,000 in the summer, I made $2,500 besides what I paid for advertising. I have kept it up ever since. That was the most expensive lesson I ever learned, but it was the most instructive and the most remunerative. If I had to start in business again, as poor as when I started, I would make a rule to spend at least one-half of what my rent co advertising in home papers. I would not waste it in cheap methods, but I would spend it judiciously and in the best and high-priced department and in the best and largest papers."--Albany Evening Journal

-A remarkable story of longevity comes from Massachusetts. In 1750 two brothers, Jonathan and Nehemiah Allen, moved from Sunbury to Barre. The former died at the age of 92; his wife at 87. Their six children who lived beyond infancy died at 67, 72, 77, 86, 87, and 88—an average of over 80. Nehemiah, Allen, the other brother, died at miah Allen, the other brother, died at 87; his wife at 67. They had four sons 51; his wife at 61. They had four sons, and six daughters, who lived to the following ages: 78, 80, 80, 82, 84, 92, 92, 95, 95, 96, and 96—an average, counting the fractions of years, of 87]. Most of them lived in or near Barre, and were farmers N V Sun.

What Sporting Men Rely Oa.

When Lewis R. Redmond, the South Carolina moonshiner, cornered, after for eight years eluding the Government officials, was asked to surrender, he exclaimed:

"Never, to men who fire at my back!"
Before he was taken, five bullets had gone clear through him, but strange to relate, he got well, in the hands of a rude "backwoods nurse."

By the way, if Garfield had been to the hands of a backwoods nurse, he might have lived. A beap of volunteer testimony against the infallibility of the physicians has been accumulating of late, and people are encouraged to do their own'd doctoring more and more. It is cheaper and quite as certain.

Before Detective Curtin, of Buffalo, caught Tom Ballard he "covered" him with his revolver. Tom saw the point and tumbled!

Joe Goss was "covered" a few weeks ago and he tumbled, and so did Dan Mace. Death "fetched em" with that dreaded weapon-kidney disease. But they should have been lively and drawn first. They could easily have disarmed the mouster had they covered him with that dead; shot—Warner's safe cure, which, drawn promptly, always takes the prey. It is doubless true that sporting men dread this enemy more than any mishap of their profession, and presumably this explains why they as a rule are so partial topthat celebrated "dead shot."

Redmond was right. No man should surrender when attacked in the back. He Celebrated "dead shot."

Redmond was right. No man should surrender when attacked in the back. He should 'draw," face about and proceed to the defence, for such attacks, so common among all classes, will fetch a man every time unless "covered" by that wonderfully successful "dead shot."—Sportsman's News.
